JULY 4, 1900

Ocala Was Equal to the Occasion and Gave Due Honor to the Day

The patriotic glories of the Fourth are only a memory this morning, but in those memories the Star is more than pleased to know that Ocala took a prominent part as one of the progressive towns of Florida in commemorating and celebrating the 124th anniversary of the nation's birthday. The day was ideal. It was made to order. The crowd was a good sized, good natured, orderly and enthusiastically patriotic one. It is roughly estimated that 2500 to 3000 people walked Ocala's streets, drank the beverages of the day, smoked democratic cheroots, ate Confederate Daughters' dinners, quenched their thirst with Campbell and Benjamin's ice cold liquid, took a thoroughly keen interest in the sports, amusements and festivities of the occasion and demonstrated an appreciativeness of the only Fourth of July merry-go-round. The brethren and sisters, especially our brother and sister in black, have no equal in all this broad land.

Where did all this throng come from? you ask the reporter. From old Marion and eight other counties surrounding it.

The crowd came to see and enjoy the sports and the Ocala House porch was radiant in fair and bewitching femininity, while other portions of the square to the Montezuma hotel, on either side, was packed, jammed, congested humanity.

The races were called on time. S. H. Standley, starter, bestrode his magnificent black charger, Bucephalus, and sent the aspirants to the course, while A. E. Burnett and Herbert C. Jones timed them and R. E. Yonge, Jr., Penny B. Dukes and T. H. Johnson judged their record.

The bicycle races came on and those who drew prizes were M. Frank first prize, Moses Liddell second and Bert Bosch third.

The colored contingent failed to show up, so a youthful Senegambian hitched up a pony cart and drew his aged progenitor across the square, to the great amusement of the onlookers. That the money should not remain in the coffers, a number of white boys entered and M. Frank, who is quite a wheelman, carried off the prize, $3.

Next came three three-legged race for whites, in which Payton Bailey and Claud Gales won the first prize of $3, while Walter Yonge and Claud Haines won second prize of $2, quickly followed by the colored contingent, whose number lined abreast almost covered the street. Lucius Hills and Eugene Anderson took in the first bluish, while Ed Harris and Madison Finley scented the rose for second money. Prizes, $3 and $2.

These races were the most picturesque and amusing of the series and the crowd enjoyed them greatly.

The sack races followed, with infinite delight, and Walter Yonge and Claud Gales came under the wire winners for first and second prizes, while among the colored contestants Coley Wells and Harris Wheeley took first and second inning.

McDuffy's greased pig was turned loose in the court house yard and the way the aspirants for the pig and $2 turned loose to capture the same has an equal in lung and wind power only in the case of the six contestants now entering the home stretch for the legislature. Madison Finley will eat roast pig for the next week, cooled on ice.

The hose companies' runs were the exciting and hair-lifting exercises of the day, for Chief Carmichael came tearing around the northeast corner of the square in his rig, closely followed by "Dynamite," over whom Sumpter Mays held the reins, with the clash of the gongs and the whoop of the crew that made the crowd take to the sidewalks with a rush. The hose was uncoiled, coupled to the hydrant and water thrown in fifty-seven and three-fifths seconds, which Black George, coached by Dick Hendricks, outran by less than ten seconds, forty-seven and two-fifths seconds. This was a fine exhibition and showed the thorough training and efficiency of our fire department.

Then came the foot race, in which there were eight entries. Henry Rotenberry, of Leroy, won first honors, with Don Ford, the young Ocala athlete, a close second. The others bunched. Time, eleven and one-fifth seconds, one hundred yard dash. Prizes, $5 and $2.

of attraction for the black kids, gamins, sports and climbers and after exhausting much energy, exuding great quantities of perspiration and further enlarging the rents in their tattered raiment, Lige Commando reached the coveted prize, spent in wind, but rich in reward, the envy of 500 less fortunate climbers.

The Patriotic Exercises

At the appointed hour, noon, led by the chairman of that committee, Hon. W. K. Zewadski, accompanied by the orator of the day, Hon. William Sherman Jennings, of Brooksville, the democratic candidate for governor.

Hon. C. M. Brown, who introduced the speaker, repaired to the band stand. There Mr. Zewadski, in a few appropriate remarks, introduced General Robert Bullock, the oldest voter in Marion county and the oldest citizen of Ocala, who read in a firm voice and with fine effect the grandest product of man's intellects, the Declaration of Independence, effecting human political liberty, throwing out a few pointed remarks at the way some of its provisions were being openly violated by the present administration of the government.

Mr. Brown's introduction of Mr. Jennings was highly flattering to the gentleman from Hernando. The poetic flights of Mr. Brown added luster to his name as an orator.

The address of Mr. Jennings was appropriate, truly patriotic and a strong plea to interpret and carry on the government as outlined by the immortal Thomas Jefferson. The speech was well received and made Mr. Jennings many new friends, who, since they have seen and heard the man, are strong partisans for his election to the high office of governor.

The baseball game in the afternoon at white and black grounds, drew audiences of over a thousand persons at each place. The playing was fine and greatly enjoyed. The Ocala team defeated Lake City by a score of 12 to 6, while Ocala colored outplayed the Dunnellon's 14 to 11. Mr. Stephen Jewett will give the details of the white game.

The evening was lurid with pyrotechnics and oratory. Neil M. Allred, chairman of the county democratic county executive committee, was master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers, who spoke in the following order: M. L. Payne, Dr. Smith, Charley Miller, Will Chambers and W. K. Zewadski. Jack McCully, who had to go home, left his regrets with the chairman. Every
